Great Increase In Enrollment at Glendale Schools

GRAMMAR GRADES SHOW GROWTH OF 178 PER CENT IN PAST 5 YEARS

Figures, Past and Present, Tell of Advancement by Educational Plants

Enrollment at the Glendale Union high school will reach 1800 by the commencement of the midyear term, according to Miss Myrtle Pulliam, statistician of the school. She stated yesterday that the enrollment was 1609 already and that more than 200 pupils were expected with the new term.

Glendale grammar school enrollment has increased 178 per cent in the past five years, according to statistics just compiled by Superintendent Richardson D. White in an effort to explain the necessity for a further program of expansion.

Enrollment figures for each December during the past six years are as follows: 1917, 1426; 1918, 1688; 1919, 1995; 1920, 2489; 1921, 3218; 1922, 3961. The difference between the lowest and highest number is precisely 2535 pupils. In other words there are almost three times as many children in local grammar schools now as there were in 1917.

Value of Buildings

The value of grammar school buildings is now estimated at $596,900 by the grammar school board of education. This figure is the result of taking the original cost of the building as a basis, adding to it a certain amount to cover the increased cost in building material and subtracting from it the regular depreciation.

Although the number of children in local grammar schools has almost trebled in the past five years, the number of class rooms has only increased from forty-eight to ninety-five or scarcely doubled.

The number of classrooms has not increased with the number of students, according to Mr. White.

Thirty Believed Dead In Bridge Tragedy

KELSO, Wash., Jan. 5.—Muddy waters of the Cowlitz and Columbia rivers today still hide and hold the bodies of perhaps thirty persons—victims of the Cowlitz bridge collapse.

Somewhere in the four mile sweep of angry current, down to the Columbia, are sleepers who will not wake. Somewhere in the jumbled wreckage, which two days ago was a bridge, are lifeless bodies waiting recovery.

The tragic toll is two dead and twenty-five missing persons, believed certainly to have perished. Only those well known in Kelso are listed. It does not account for itinerants who were believed to have been hurled into the angry waters when the structure buckled.

Official inquiry into the crash will be made, Deputy Coroner W. D. Van Nole stated. An inquest may also be held over McDonald's body.

Two Killed in Race Riot; Fear Outbreak

SUMNER, Fla., Jan. 5.—The bodies of Henry Andrews, logging superintendent of the Sumner Lumber company of Sumner, and Boly Wilkerson, storekeeper at Sumner, were found today where they fell last night in the race rioting at Rosewood, Sla.

Reports reaching here from Rosewood are that the trouble is not over, and that the white men of the district are only awaiting reinforcements before renewing their attacks on a negro house where more than twenty negroes are besieged.

Attempt to Murder Finance Minister

PRAGUE, Jan. 5.—An unsuccessful attempt was made here today to assassinate Minister of Finance Raschin of the Czecho-Slovak cabinet. Dr. Raschin was leaving his home when a young Bohemian, who had been lying in wait, fired three shots with a revolver. The minister was wounded, but escaped death. The Bohemian was arrested and gave the name of Schobal. He said he was an employe of the Bank of Bohemia.

At the hospital it developed that Minister Raschin was in a serious condition, one bullet having injured the spine.

Tunnel to Reduce P. E. Running Time, Glendale and L. A.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC running time between Los Angeles and Glendale is to be shortened in about a year and a half, it is estimated.

Attorney Frank Karr, second vice president for this railroad, stated yesterday that construction of the $3,000,000 tunnel, which will connect Hill street with Glendale boulevard, would be started in a few months.

The Pacific Electric yesterday purchased the old Olive street school site between Fourth and Fifth streets from the Los Angeles Board of Education. The consideration was $145,000.

The tunnel will start from Olive street, running underground west to the vicinity of Maryland street, passing under Flower street and from there northwest to First street, where it will connect with the present Glendale line.

TRADE IN REALTY IS CLOSED TODAY

Oma A. Fish Gives Apartment House for Business Block on Harvard

A real estate deal involving a considerable sum was consummated this morning when Oma A. Fish, well-known Glendale resident, traded his apartment house at 204 Hawthorne street for seventy-five feet of improved property on Harvard between Brand and Orange.

The Harvard street property is improved with two store buildings which are occupied at present by the Star Automobile agency and the Western Rubber company. The property was formerly owned by Max Green.

The apartment house traded by Mr. Fish is known as the Pearl apartments. It is a two-story structure and contains four apartments. It was erected seven years ago.

Mr. Fish said the terms of the exchange were private.

Guard Supposed Grave Of Russian Jewels

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Armed federal agents in the National cemetery in Brooklyn today are guarding the grave of James Jones, American seaman, whose coffin is reported to conceal $4,000,000 of the Russian crown jewels.

Secret service agents of the treasury department are working on the rumored tracing of the jewels to the grave, William B. Williams, head of the New York office, admitted today. He refused to state whether the department places credence in the reports.

An order from a federal judge will be necessary to open Jones' grave.

The snow mantle which Wednesday's storm laid over the graves of 5,000 fighters in the National cemetery had not been disturbed since the rumor of the tracing of the gems cropped up yesterday, according to Anthony Bushman, superintendent of the cemetery. With two armed men, he kept vigil last night. The watch today was turned over to federal agents.

Uncle John Says--

Glendale sure ought to be proud of that feller, Chobe. This is the fourth year now that he has got up a float that won first prize for Glendale at the Pasadena show. Me and Mary are sendin' away a lot of copies of The Glendale Evening News with a picture of Mr. Chobe and the beautiful peacock float. Mary says we are goin' to contribute somethin' to the fund that is bein' raised to show Mr. Chobe how much his work is appreciated.

SAY CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM BEST FRIEND OF CITY

Owen Emery, at Rotary Club Luncheon, Expresses His Views on Complaints

"Criticism, the right kind of criticism, is the best friend an individual or a city can have. The trouble with most people is that they don't examine criticism in the light of reason. The right kind of criticism is a pulling apart, if this needs must be, only in order to make stronger and better—in short, constructive criticism."

These significant remarks were made by Owen Emery at yesterday's weekly luncheon meeting of the Glendale Rotary club, in a discussion by various members of community interests and community pride and spirit.

"I am for carrying complaints right to the source and airing them," continued Mr. Emery, with reference to certain furtive and murmured complaints about the work of the City Council. "When we get a thing out of our system, it doesn't fester. Outspoken, constructive criticism is a most potent force for progerss. Let's put the cards on the table, whenever there is a difference of opinion. It is an American idea, and a good one. This idea of secret diplomacy invariably leads to cards up the sleeve—and that leads to trouble every time."

Roy L. Kent, president of the local Rotary club, led off these remarks with a short introductory speech, calling attention to the club's motto, "He profits most who serves best," and urging that no better motto than that is needed for an individual, a town, or a nation.

Tells School Growth

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city school, followed with a talk on the good work the council had done in co-operating with the school authorities. Mr. White sketched vividly the rapid growth of Glendale and the correlative burden imposed upon its educational facilities.

Edward Hewett then said a few words in praise of the effective way in which the City Council had met an almost unprecedented set of problems.

"We must remember," stated Mr. Hewett, "that Glendale's growth has been second to that of no city in the United States. And in every way the council has followed this growth with practical response to demands. In mileage of streets, in public schools, parks and many other municipal developments, Glendale, through its City Council, has showed a community pride and spirit above criticism, at least above anything but constructive criticism."

PLAN TO BEAUTIFY CITY'S LAND FOR PARK INDORSED

Hazen J. Titus Company to Spend $40,000 on Project If Granted Lease

Glendale is to have a new municipal park.

The City Council last night gave the Hazen J. Titus Fruitcake company permission to beautify two acres belonging to the city at the north end of Louise street with the understanding that it is to be converted into a public park.

A communication on this subject from R. J. Mennz, secretary and treasurer of the company, is as follows:

"We beg to make the following proposal which will result in the creation of another park without cost to the city:

"We propose to spend not less than $40,000 for improvements and landscaping on property lying to the north of the present two-acre reservoir site on Mountain street and propose to develop and improve and maintain this two-acre site as a park open to the public at all times with the understanding that your body will grant us a lease on said two acres for ten years at a consideration of $1 per year.

Proposes Ordinance

"Said lease shall be prepared at once and placed in escrow with the Glendale State Bank with instructions to deliver same to us when we have caused said proposed buildings, improvements, etc., to be completed.

"It shall also be understood that after said development work has been completed and lease delivered, that the council will, at that time, if desired by us, cause an ordinance to be passed setting aside said two-acre site as a public park.

After considerable discussion on this subject at several meetings of the committee of the whole at which Roy L. Kent of 130 South Brand boulevard was present, the matter was brought up last night in open session.

Motion was made by Councilman A. H. Lapham that City Attorney Hartley Shaw should be instructed to draw up the necessary lease.

Colonial Mansion

According to Mayor Spencer Robinson, the Hazen J. Titus Fruitcake company proposes to erect a colonial mansion to cost about $20,000 for a salesroom and general offices just north of the proposed new park. He stated that none of the company's business buildings would be placed upon the city's property.

Councilman Sam A. Davis commented on the fact that the city has owned this property for a long time and that the city administration was not buying any more parks—but rather getting one improved for nothing.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin also endorsed the proposition. Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson was absent.

Ohio Newspaperman Visits News' Plant

W. A. Campbell, of Lima, Ohio, publisher of the Republican Gazette in that city, is in Glendale with his wife and daughter, to spend the winter.

Yesterday Mr. Campbell was the guest of A. T. Cowan on a visit to the offices of The Glendale Evening News. The visit included an inspection of the presses and other facilities back of this paper's service to the people of Glendale.

Mr. Campbell expressed himself as delighted with the progressive spirit manifested in newspaper and city alike.

Suggest Ordinance To Tax Billboards

Billboards will be taxed $1 a square foot a year under the terms of an ordinance suggested last night by Councilman Sam Davis in open session of the city council. His motion that City Attorney Hartley Shaw should draw up the suggested ordinance was seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin.

Another provision of the ordinance will be the requirement of a building permit to cost $2.

Germany in Default On Coal Deliveries

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Germany will be declared in default of her 1922 coal deliveries by the allied reparations commission tomorrow, it was learned today. Sir John Bradbury, the British representative, announced he would attend the meeting which will deal with the coal delivery issue.

British Financier Sees Revolution Clouds in Europe

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Stanley Baldwin, British chancellor of the exchequer, asserted today that failure of the allied conference at Paris has brought Europe to a real crisis, and that unless it is bridged by skilful diplomatic effort there is danger of revolution in Germany and France that might envelop all of Europe.

"The crisis has been reached," Baldwin said.

"Revolution in Germany, if it develops out of sudden termination of the Paris conference cannot easily be checked. It is much to be feared. In France, revolution would be only slightly serious, but there the hope of saving the situation rests with the rural population.

"Europe is virtually at the brink of a precipice. Powerful means are necessary to save the situation. The industrial structure rests upon a basis of uncertainty and doubt and the entire commercial horizon is clouded with skepticism. America eventually, if not now, must help save Europe and the rest of the world."

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce, which is behind the movement to raise a substantial gift for L. W. Chobe, designer of Glendale's prize winning floats at the Pasadena Rose Tournament, expressed themselves this morning as being elated with the generous manner in which Glendalians are sending in their contributions.

Much Advertising

Mr. Chobe, for whom the fund is being collected, has designed for Glendale in the past five years as many prize-winning floats at the Pasadena tournament. These displays, which have been viewed by thousands of people throughout the United States, have given Glendale hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of publicity, according to the public spirited citizens behind the drive.

All subscriptions should be made to R. F. Kitterman, treasurer of the fund, at the Security Trust & Savings bank.

Glendale vs. Pomona Game Is Scheduled

The game is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock in the Glendale High school gymnasium, according to Manager A. G. Wheelon, who states that the Glendale squad is all set for a decided come-back, having obtained some very promising material.

Unemployed People Scarce in Glendale

Only thirteen persons applied for employment during December at the public welfare department in the Tropico City Hall. So far this month only two have applied. Mrs. E. B. Sadler stated yesterday that many merchants and residents did not seem to know that the public welfare department maintained a free employment bureau.

GUY BATES POST IN AUTO COLLISION; NONE INJURED

Car of Famous Actor Is Hit By Another Machine, He Informs Police

Guy Bates Post, the famous actor, was a visitor yesterday in Glendale—at the local police station.

However, he dropped in to report the fact that the rear end of his automobile had been crashed into by a machine driven by S. O. Berry of 721 West Forty-second place, Los Angeles.

The collision occurred about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Brand boulevard and Seneca street.

"I was driving out of Seneca street into Brand boulevard," asserted Mr. Post. "As I turned the corner, a car stopped to allow me to take my turn. As I rounded the corner and passed this car, another machine passed this car, which was standing still, and crashed into my rear fender."

Other Collisions

Two other collisions were reported yesterday:

Miss Lois Curtiss of 1950 Vassar street was driving the automobile belonging to B. W. Sherwood of 357 West Broadway about 10:30 yesterday morning. She lost control of it and crashed into the front of the automobile of S. A. Merriken of 123 South Central avenue, which was parked in front of his real estate office.

Brand boulevard and Broadway was the scene of a collision about 7:45 last night between automobiles driven by James P. Dugind of 238 South Royal avenue, Eagle Rock, and R. I. Hamilton of 147 South Central avenue. No one was injured and damage was slight.

Fire Chief Approves School Protection

Glendale elementary school children are in no danger from fire, according to A. H. Lankford, fire chief.

Fire drills were held yesterday at all of the schools. The quickest response was at the Acacia school, where the 301 pupils were out of the building in 36 seconds. The slowest response was at the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school where the 503 pupils required only a minute and a half to leave the building.

Fire fighting apparatus was approved by Chief Lankford. The inspection was made in company with David Black, business agent for the local grammar school system.

OCCUPATION OF RUHR DISTRICT MEANS WAR, BERLIN NEWSPAPERS PREDICT; CHANGES IN POLICIES

Great Britain Will Not Take Part In Further Conferences Unless It Is Summoned by U. S., Claim; Exchange Market Shaken

BULLETIN

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Via Radio.—Minister of War Magniot this afternoon ordered immediate cancellation of all furloughs and the return of all active soldiers to their units.

Premier Theunis of Belgium outlined for Premier Poincare the extent of military aid Belgium could give France if the French advance into Germany.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Harding would be requested to order the return of all United States troops stationed on the Rhine by a resolution introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri.

BULLETIN

MAYENCE, Jan. 5.—Troops of the French army of occupation on the Rhine today were ordered to hold themselves in readiness for active service. All furloughs have been cancelled.

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 5.—British newspapers today expressed the fear that the Anglo-French entente was near its end as a result of the breakdown of the reparations conference in Paris. Late this afternoon the foreign office officially denied that any request had been made to Washington for a conference.

Premier A. Bonar Law will arrive in London from Paris late today and will immediately summon a cabinet meeting to discuss the new crisis. It is unlikely Great Britain will take part in another conference unless summoned by the United States.

British officialdom is turning its attention toward the Near East peace conference at Lausanne, which is being seriously affected by the collapse of the reparations conference.

Lausanne advices said the Turks and Russians were taking hope from the Anglo-French split hoping to get better terms than would have been the case otherwise.

Most disquieting news is coming from Berlin. German newspapers were quoted as declaring that "occupation of the Ruhr by France means war."

There is every indication that Great Britain will now make a complete change of policy. If the French seize the Ruhr the British army of occupation will undoubtedly be withdrawn from the Rhine and Britain will retire from the inter-allied reparations commission. Britain will adopt a policy of "European isolation" identical with that of the United States.

The foreign exchange market was unsettled. Francs, lire and marks all were lower. It was possible to buy 40,500 German marks for one English pound sterling.

More Than Four Million Under Arms in Europe Now

By LUTHER A. HOUSTON
For International News Service.
Copyright, 1923, International News

LONDON, Jan. 5.—There are nearly 4,500,000 men under arms in Europe today.

The near east is an armed camp with nearly a quarter of a million men armed and ready for war.

A gigantic allied fleet (chiefly British) containing half a hundred men of war and auxiliary naval craft, is in Turkish waters, ready for hostilities.

Nearly two per cent of the population of Europe is being maintained by the state for war purposes.

Italy and France are strengthening their armies and navies.

Near Breaking Point

Allied solidarity has been shaken to the breaking point by the collapse of the allied reparations conference in Paris. The near east peace conference is virtually in deadlock.

While the world cries out for peace and allied statesmen profess to be animated only by a desire for tranquility, the stage is being set for war.

The foregoing statistics are not based upon rumors and press reports, but upon statistics furnished to the British war office.

Russia and France maintain the largest armies, the former having 1,300,000 men and the latter 737,000. Russia set out to reduce her armed forces to 600,000 men, but it is understood that the collapse of the disarmament conference has slowed down the work of demobilization. Russia's strength is mainly in man power. She is lacking in guns, airplanes, poison gases and munitions.

France, with a standing army of 737,000 men, is undoubtedly the most powerful military force in the world today, for the French army not only has the men, but also the arms and all the latest weapons of modern warfare.

The eyes of the world center upon two trouble spots:

1—The near east where Mustapha Kemal Pasha is working with might and main to reinforce his Turkish army.

2—The Rhineland, where France threatens to extend her military occupation of German soil.

All of Turkey is filled with troops and the Turkish straits—Dardanelles, Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus—are crammed with warships. There is a great British fortress at Chanak, on the Dar-

U. S. AWAITS NEXT MOVE; REFUSES TO INTERFERE

France Must Recede From Its 'Hardboiled' Attitude, Administration Stand

BULLETIN

LAUSANNE, Jan. 5.—General Weygand, military adviser to the French delegation in the Near East peace conference, was hastily recalled to Paris tonight by French War Minister Maginot.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The United States will make no further proposals or intervene in any way in the critical situation created abroad over reparations by the Franco-British split, until the European governments, parparticularly France, signify a desire for American good offices to aid in an adjustment.

This flat and unequivocal statement was made today in the highest administration quarters. It was designed manifestly to set at rest reports that this government is contemplating intervention in the European situation in some drastic way.

The next move in this latest crisis must come from Europe, it was stated. And until such a move on Europe's part is forthcoming, and particularly until France indicates a desire to recede from the "hard-boiled" attitude she has assumed on reparations, this government can do nothing except keep abreast of development's and leave the proffer of American good offices still standing.

This was the American attitude as outlined officially today, just before President Harding met with his cabinet to discuss the situation abroad.

France alone presents the stumblingblock in the pathway of American intervention abroad. It was France alone that accorded a hostile reception to Secretary of State Hughes' recent suggestion to allow a commission of economic experts to settle the reparations controversy. And in the view of the highest officials of the administration, it is France alone that can bring about the exercise of American good offices.

Secretary Hughes regards his recent suggestion as the limit to which this government can go in the present situation until there is a change of policy on the part of the French.

INITIAL WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED IN CITY HALL

L. A. Couple Contracting Parties; Judge Cruzan Ties Nuptial Knot

The first wedding to occur in Eagle Rock's new city hall was performed by Judge Harold Ide Cruzan in his most judicial manner at thirty minutes past noon, yesterday. The contracting parties were Edmund A. Moreno, 23, and Grace C. Durrent, 18, both of Los Angeles.

The blushing bridegroom, with his bride-to-be clinging to his arm, strolled casually into the city clerk's office shortly after noon, and inquired where and by whom they could have the nuptial knot tied. An S. O. S. call was immediately sent to Judge Cruzan at his residence, and within a few moments he had arrived, and in less time than it usually takes him to extract a fine from an auto speeder, he had declared the young people man and wife, and had started them down life's broad highway in double harness.

Has Home Prepared

Mr. Moreno has charge of the delivery department of the New York Store in Los Angeles, and has a snug little home all fitted up for the reception of his bride, in one of the nearby suburbs.

Miss Mary Coffey, of the city clerk's office, and Miss Stella J. Forbes, friends of the young people from Los Angeles, were the official witnesses.

TEACHERS SLATED TO HEAR MUSIC DISCUSSION

Miss Jennie Jones of L. A. To Address P.-T. A. on School Work

Miss Jennie Jones, director of music in the Los Angeles schools, will address the members of the P.-T. A., of Eagle Rock, at their next meeting on February 7, on the subject of "Orchestra Work and Music."

In addition to the address of Miss Jones, other interesting numbers will be presented.

The members of the P.-T. A. wish to announce that as they now have two picture machines, a continual performance will be given at the community shows from now on.

Also that the persons holding tickets 10 and 2, which drew the erector set and the pin cushion, have not put in an appearance. In case these are not called for before tonight, these two numbers will be drawn from the audience.

Samuel Robbins passed away at his home, 122 Delaware avenue, Eagle Rock, January 2 at the age of 79 years. He is survived by his wife Mrs. Amanda F. Robbins. The deceased was a native of Indiana.

NEW CITY HALL'S INTERIOR BEING REFURNISHED

Install Rugs, Draperies and Curtains; Plan to Terrace Lawn

Many improvements are being made at the city hall at the present time in the way of refurnishings. Thick rugs now deaden the sound to some extent along the runways in the court chamber; new and attractive draperies and curtains have been hung, and today workmen are engaged in installing new counters in the clerk's and water officials' departments. The improvements were badly needed and add greatly to the attractiveness and convenience of the various departments.

Another contemplated improvement is the terracing of the lawn in front of the city hall. Work of removing soil was started last week, but great headway has not been made up to the present time.

Constance Talmadge Featured Today in Production, 'East Is West'

The P.-T. A. community picture show for today is a First National attraction of unusual merit. Constance Talmage will star in "East Is West." This is a very recent picture and one that has drawn great crowds wherever shown. The recreation committee feel sure that Eagle Rock will be glad of the chance to see it.

The last episode of Robinson Crusoe will also be shown. No one knows whether or not Crusoe will be true to his old sweetheart left in England, or if he will go back to the Spanish girl on the lonely isle.

Two shows will be given at 6:45 and 8:45 p. m., at regular prices.

She has been cared for at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Leaving home Saturday evening they journeyed first to San Diego, continuing from there to El Centro in Imperial Valley. The next objective point was Mexicali, just over the Mexican border. From there they went to Tia Juana, and last to Coronado and again to San Diego before starting on the homeward trip. They arrived in Glendale Monday night.

The only difference is in the price!

ORANGE BLOSSOM Coffee costs less than other high grade coffee because it is packed in glassin-lined bags instead of expensive tin containers. To prevent the coffee from losing its flavor and strength, Orange Blossom is roasted and ground every day and supplied to grocers in limited quantities—just enough for immediate demands. As a result, it actually reaches the consumer within a day or two after leaving the roaster.

Give Orange Blossom a trial. It goes farther—makes more cups per pound than any other brand.

REALTY MEN HEAR MOTOR BUS PLANS

C. D. Gulick, of This City, Outlines His Proposed L. A. Stage Line

Cursory plans of the company which proposes to establish a motor bus service between Glendale and Los Angeles were outlined to the membership of the Glendale Real Estate board yesterday by C. D. Gulick, transportation expert, and promoter of the project.

Mr. Gulick's address was given at the Real Estate board's regular weekly luncheon at the Broadway Inn. C. D. Thom, president of the organization, presided.

Mr. Gulick told the real estate men that he has secured an option on the Verdugo Hills Transportation company for ninety days. The latter company at present operates a stage line between Sunland, Tujunga, Montrose and Los Angeles via Glendale. He says he has the opportunity to purchase the line for $57,500. He proposes to raise the money needed by selling stock.

12½-Cent Rate

Granting that his plans materialize, he asserted that residents of Glendale will be enabled to commute between here and Los Angeles for 25 cents a round-trip. It is planned to make the cost of one way tickets 20 cents, he said.

Further, he stated that he intends that the new company, when formed, will establish an assembling point for motor busses in Glendale.

"This industry, itself," he told his listeners, "will mean the employment of 200 men whose annual salary would run in the neighborhood of $365,000."

Mr. Gulick, who is regarded as an authority on motor bus problems, stated that the gross earnings of motor stages in the United States this year will approximate $18,700,000. He said that every stage company operating in this country is making a profit of from 15 to 65 per cent on its investment.

Network of Busses

Real estate brokers in Glendale would profit by the operation of the stage line proposed because he intends to have a network of busses operate about the residential and business sections of the city, he informed the meeting. He stated that he will be prepared to serve new additions just as rapidly as they spring up.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Gulick asked the Real Estate board that three members be appointed as a committee to investigate thoroughly the proposition that he has to offer. A resolution to this effect was passed. Findings on the project will be submitted to the board at its meeting next week.

The business session of the realty dealers was confined chiefly to routine matters. A great many minor questions relating to the industry as a whole were discussed, too. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read by Secretary Hayward.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

There's Joy In Living Bakersfield Now Sedate Control Over Radio Air Limit Necessary

By Gil A. Cowan

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 5.—If it isn't nippy enough for the "back easters" here in this sunkist land of ours, just hop into your motor cars and take to the hill tops.

On the ridge route yesterday, between Los Angeles and San Francisco, the writer found it cool enough to make one want to get out and walk. Of course, the wonderful sunshine from the east and south in the morning gives warmth and life that is like nectar to the verdure, but the brisk breezes blowing in from over the ocean, or swooping down from snowy mountains to the east, are "the tonic that will make the hair grow," to quote our barber friend.

Well, there is a joy in living when you can get way out in the open and look down on some lowly shack in a sequestered canyon. Sure, we all have to have our retreat from the storm, some safe harbor, but the highest crest of the bounding main and the tallest peak of earth's pinnacles are the places where the real thrills are held.

Somehow the ozone of the altitudes has an effect on a person that causes words to flow more freely and the mind to wander distances not curbed by buildings and office windows.

All of which is very unsatisfactory to those who must live in cities and compensating to the folks "down on the farm." For, when all is said and done, the youngsters brought up in the country have the edge on the city youth.

Likewise, the "city feller" who is a suburban dweller gets the invigorating refreshment not found in bottles, but in green lawns, bungalows, neighbors and happy children.

That is the lure of Glendale to the countless thousands who are crowding out here—away from Los Angeles, away from the very thoughts of the metropolis and its din and traffic and turmoil.

They love their Glendale in a way that no annexation movement is ever going to succeed until some borough system of government will give each area of Greater Los Angeles its autonomy.

It seems odd to beat back to Bakersfield after six short years and find the wild and wooly city of the west a stern, sedate, sober place where undertakers now wait for people to die natural deaths and the police have little or nothing to do other than to catch criminals en route from Los Angeles or San Francisco.

And how the San Joaquin valley and Fresno are coming to the front. When the little raisin became famous Fresno fell into a legacy that only prohibition could give it. New hotels, a greater business district, a fruit industry that compares favorably with any southland city is to be found at Fresno.

As publicity agent for the California Associated Raisin Growers Al Joy found the little iron men in the raisins and he reduced the package to 5 cents and first thing we knew we were buying 'em and eating them, while others were brewing with them, and now there isn't enough to go round, they tell me. Al had to get another job.

Radio control again is being urged by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover. It has been suggested many times and each day makes more apparent the necessity for someone being "boss of the air."

Happily, everything has gone along very nicely with a few concerts being "spoiled" here and there; others being too rotten to be spoiled, but the process of elimination has reduced the number of broadcasting stations and improved the quality of programs with most beneficial results.

The other evening the writer sat in the parlor of a friend's home and there connected to the phonograph was the radio which cut in on first the Los Angeles Times and then the Los Angeles Examiner concerts with delightful results.

Jazz and grand opera, news and bedtime stories, monologues and solos—about anything you wanted came floating in from Radioland. You could hear Denver or San Francisco, faintly; you could hear ships at sea; you had in the radio the world before you if the set was sufficient to grasp it.

No wonder such a power, such a force as this should be controlled. Certain privileges, which the navy claims, must give way to the general public; hours of concerts must be arranged most conveniently for the people served; and, finally, those who benefit should be listed and have a voice in what they hear—and then pay for it.

Adventist Church Announces Services

The Sabbath school of the Seventh-day Adventists will begin its new year at 9:30 a. m., Saturday, with Mrs. LaGourgue as superintendent, at the Adventist church on the corner of Isabel and California avenue.

Preaching at 10:45 a. m. by the pastor, subject, "What Present Day Conditions Teach Us."

Elder W. F. Martin will give a lecture at 7:30 p. m. Saturday under the auspices of the Seventh-day Adventist Academy, on "The Life of Savanorola." The lecture will be given in the auditorium of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

In this day of mad rush and hurry, it is rather encouraging to find the hold-up men taking things easy.

MUSIC CLUB HAS JOINT RECITAL

Charles Wakefield Cadman And Princess Tsianina Present Prigram

The auditorium of the Glendale Union High school was last night filled to overflowing by music lovers desirous of hearing the joint recital of Charles Wakefield Cadman, famous American composer and pianist, and Princess Tsianina, celebrated Indian mezzo-soprano. The recital, which was staged as a regular meeting of the Glendale Music club, was beautifully and attractively presented by these two well-known artists, whose renditions were received with appreciation and interest from a historical and educational standpoint, as well as from a strictly classical viewpoint.

In Three Parts

Practically all of the program, which was arranged in three parts, consisted of Indian folk songs and melodies, Cadman being one of the country's foremost authorities on the music of the North American redskins. Princess Tsianina was garbed in the customary Indian raiment, as was worn by the tribe beauties on our frontiers several hundred years ago.

Prior to every number, Cadman explained the history, theme and environment based on the selection, his exhibition and demonstration of a genuine Indian flageolet in the second part being enthusiastically received by the highly appreciative audience.

Of the entire program Cadman's, "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," as rendered by Princess Tsianina, was easily the hit of the evening. Other well-known Cadman compositions appearing on the program were "At Dawning," "Love Song," "The Desert's Dusty Face," etc.

A Greater Merchandising Center for Glendale in 1923

The year 1923 is well begun. Already events of importance have transpired and plans for the year are being carried out.

One of the things we, as Glendale business men, have resolved to do this year is to keep in harmony with the buying public—not for the purpose of extracting a few additional dollars from your pockets but for our mutual benefit.

We can easily foresee Glendale's future greatness, our city is destined to become still larger and better than it is today. And with due modesty we recognize and acknowledge our responsibility in helping to make it so.

No city whose business men are not thoroughly awake to all the needs of the community can achieve greatness. No city whose merchants have no prestige in the wholesale markets and do not keep abreast of the times in all phases of merchandising can ever make a name for itself.

When you buy you lay sentiment aside. If you wish to bestow charity you do so through the regular channels. You do not trade with this merchant or that one because he needs your business.

We want your trade. It's to our mutual advantage that you should spend your money in Glendale where it will be used for local needs and improvements—but we respect your intelligence too much to ask for your business for this reason.

IT IS OUR DUTY TO CREATE SUCH A MERCHANDISING CENTER IN GLENDALE THAT NO GLENDALIAN NEED BE PUT TO THE TROUBLE AND EXPENSE OF GOING OUTSIDE THE HOME CITY TO BUY ANYTHING.

At the beginning of this New Year we believe that we are approaching more nearly to the ideal in this respect than ever before.

We believe that the holiday trade in Glendale was a mutual revelation. We learned that you really want to buy in Glendale and you found out that we are endeavoring to offer you the same advantages you would enjoy in the city stores.

We want to deserve your trade and we pledge you that in the year 1923 we will bend every effort to bring you the merchandise that you desire and the service you deserve at the fairest possible prices.

And furthermore we will save you the discomfort, the inconvenience and the time you may have been spending by being jostled by the crowds in larger cities.

WE HAVE ALREADY FOUND THE PEOPLE OF GLENDALE READY AND WILLING TO MEET US HALFWAY.

AND SO AGAIN WE PLEDGE YOU OUR FULLEST CO-OPERATION IN THIS MOVEMENT TO MAKE GLENDALE A BIGGER AND A GREATER CITY, WITH A TRADING CENTER THAT SHALL BE HER PRIDE AND SHALL CONTRIBUTE TO HER GREATNESS.

"Eleven hundred, yes," breathed the woman, faintly, her eyes horror-filled and fearful as she gazed upon Billy's face. She didn't care for the money any more—they could have it all if they would only let her live.

Billy turned toward her and held the crumbled green mass out.

"Here," he said; "but that's an awful lot o' coin for a woman to have about de house—an' her all alone. You ought not to a-done it."

She took the money in trembling fingers. It seemed incredible that the man was returning it to her.

"But I knew it," she said finally.

"Knew what?" asked Billy.

"I knew you was a good boy. They said you was a murderer."

Billy's brow contracted, and an expression of pain crossed his face.

"How did they come to say that?" he asked.

"I heard them telephonin' to Kansas City to the police;" she replied, and then she sat bolt upright. "The detectives are on their way here now," she almost screamed, "and even if you are a murderer I don't care. I won't stand by and see 'em get you after what you have done for me. I don't believe you're a murderer anyhow. You're a good boy. My boy would be about as old and as big as you by now—if he lives. He ran away a long time ago—maybe you've met him. His name's Eddie—Eddie Shorter. I ain't heard from him fer years.

"No," she went on, "I don't believe what they said—you got too good a face; but if you are a murderer you get out now before they come an' I'll send 'em on a wild-goose chase in the wrong direction."

"But these," said Billy. "We can't leave these here."

"Tie 'em up and give me the shotgun," she said. "I'll bet they don't come any more funny business on me." She had regained both her composure and her nerve by this time.

Together Billy and Bridge trussed up the two tramps. An elephant couldn't have forced the bonds they placed upon them. Then they carried them down cellar and when they had come up again Mrs. Shorter barred the cellar door.

"I reckon they won't get out of there very fast," she said. "And now you two boys run along. Got any money?" and without waiting for a reply she counted twenty-five dollars from the roll she had tucked in the front of her waist and handed them to Billy.

"Nothin' doin'," said he; "but t'anks just the same."

"You got to take it," she insisted. "Let me make believe I'm givin' it to my boy, Eddie—please," and the tears that came to her eyes proved far more effective than her generous words.

"Aw, all right," said Billy. "I'll take it an' pass it along to Eddie if I ever meet him, eh?"

"Now please hurry," she urged. "I don't want you to be caught—even if you are a murderer. I wish you weren't though."

"I'm not," said Billy; "but de law says I am an' what de law says, goes."

He turned toward the doorway with Bridge, calling good-bye to the woman, but as he stepped out upon the veranda the dust of a fast-moving automobile appeared about a bend in the road a half-mile from the house.

"Too late," he said, turning to Bridge. "Here they come!"

The woman brushed by them and peered up the road.

"Yes," she said, "it must be them. Lordy! what'll we do?"

"I'll duck out the back way, thats what I'll do," said Billy.

"It wouldn't do a mite of good," said Mrs. Shorter, with a shake of her head. "They'll telephone every farmer within twenty mile of here in every direction, an' they'll get you sure. Wait! I got a scheme. Come with me," and she turned and bustled through the little parlor, out of a doorway into something that was half hall and half storeroom. There were a flight of stairs leading to the upper story, and she waddled up them as fast as her legs would carry her, motioning the two men to follow her.

In a rear room was a trapdoor in the ceiling.

"Drag that commode under this," she told them. "Then climb into the attic, and close the trapdoor. They won't never find you there."

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Frank E. Mason, Paris Correspondent, writes of the "Black and White" epidemic which seems to have hit the French capital. One manifestation is the Siki-Carpentier affair—another the most recent play of Sacha Guitry.

TOMORROW—Roland Krebs, New York Correspondent, declares that New York, far from being the "hub of iniquity" that it is reputed to be, is one of the most moral cities in the United States.

For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—"Black and White" are the colors of Paris this season. Probably the range for "black and white" started with a daring plan by Sacha Guitit is a comedy. "Blanc et Noir" is plot of which one hesitates to mention to an American reading public. Let's see, how can it be put delicately? A French lady has a child in the first act. The lady is white, her husband is white, but the child, well, isn't white. This, dear reader, isn't a problem play in Paris either, it is a comedy. "Blanc Noir" is the most discussed play in Paris today, a sort of a humorous successor to "Damaged Goods."

Siki and Carpentier have helped the vogue of "Black and White," and the headline writers of the newspapers like to mix up Sacha Guitry's play with Siki's victories and defeats. Siki is a daily figure in the Paris press. Siki attends a different bar nearly night and all a Paris newspaperman has to do is to follow Siki around to get a good feature story. The negro representative of Senegal in the Chamber of Deputies, Monsieur Diagne, came to Siki's rescue and started a verbal race riot in the sport columns of the Paris newspapers. "Blanc et Noir" continued to be the color of the day.

Quite seriously, however, to turn from the sporting page to the "Home and Fireside" column, this constant repetition of "Black and White" has had its effect on Paris fashions and the sombre black dresses of last year begin to show white sleeves, white trimmings, white stripes, anything to keep the combination of "Blanc et Noir."

We've gone through the Paris newspapers backward. We've arrived at the front page and find that "Blanc et Noir" is really a serious question. "Should army officers be black or white?" demands L'Oeuvre in a campaign which it is carrying on in its columns. This morning General Verraux answers that he will stake his fortunes on the black as well as on the white.

"Permit me to reply through your columns to my numerous friends who have asked me to express my opinion," writes General Verraux. "I have always believed that the skin of a black man was equal in value to that of a white—I believe his heart beats like that of a white man, their brains have the same anatomical structure—I would like better to have my grandchildren serve under a black general who would lead them to victory than under a white general who would lead them to defeat. A military genius is rarely found among the whites, let us admit that it will be more rare among the blacks, but let's not say that it is impossible."

Of course, there is the question of black and white on the Rhine in the French troops of occupation. This is really a delicate question, but nevertheless it echoes and re-echoes through the Paris press in repeated denials of German propaganda. The French declare that the Arabs are not black. American tourists insist that they are Pullman porter shade. But as these northern-Africans really are not blacks in the strict sense of the word, we must eliminate them from the list of devotees to the latest Paris vogue.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TICKLE SPEAR

One day Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, was hopping and skipping through the woods, as happy as a beam of sunshine and she was singing to herself.

"Good morning, Baby Bunty!" greeted Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, on his way to tear some paper off a circus bill board so Aunt Lettie would have something for breakfast. "Why are you so happy this morning, Baby Bunty?" asked the goat.

"Because I am going to see Uncle Wiggily," answered Baby Bunty. "Nurse Jane just telephoned to Mrs. Littletail's burrow house, where I am staying. Nurse Jane said she had to go out and as Uncle Wiggily had the rheumatism he had to stay in. As Nurse Jane didn't want him to be alone she asked if I couldn't come over and stay."

"And so you are going!" bleated Uncle Butter. "How kind of you, Baby Bunty. I'm sure Uncle Wiggily will be glad to see you."

"Yes, and I'll be glad to see him," said the little rabbit girl. "I'm going to ask him to pop me some corn when we are alone in the bungalow."

Away skipped Baby Bunty. On went Uncle Butter to get the pasted paper from the circus board for Aunt Lettie. And then out of the bushes, where they had been hiding, stepped the Fuzzy Fox and the Woozie Wolf.

"Did you hear what Baby Bunty said?" whispered the Fox.

"Yes," growled the Wolf. "She and Uncle Wiggily will be all alone in the hollow stump bungalow popping corn. They won't hear us if we sneak up, and we can nibble their ears!"

"Right you are!" barked the Fox.

On they sneaked through the woods, going very softly.

Baby Bunty hurried on as fast as she could, and soon she reached the bunny gentleman's hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, Baby Bunty! It is very kind of you to come and stay with me when I can't get out on account of my rheumatism," said Mr. Longears. "But Nurse Jane need not have troubled you. I could just as well have stayed alone until she came back!"

"Oh, I'm glad to come!" cried Baby Bunty. "Will you pop some corn for me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Right gladly will I do that!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I'll shell the kernels of corn from the ear and you get the popper."

Outside, the Fox and Wolf heard what was said, and the Fox whispered:

"They may shell kernels off the ear of corn, but the Wolf and I will nibble nibbles off the ears of those rabbits."

"Right you are!" whispered the Wolf.

Soon Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty began popping corn. Now if you have ever popped corn you know it is rather warm work. The bunny gentleman found it so.

"Open the door a little way, Baby Bunty," he said. And when the door was opened the Wolf outside saw it and said:

"I can soon sneak in there. He is making it very easy for us."

"Yes, indeed," said the Fox.

"Pippity-pop!" went the corn, and it made the room so much warmer that Uncle Wiggily said: "Open the window a little way, Baby Bunty."

So Baby Bunty opened the window and the Fox, seeing it, said: "Ha! I can easily get in that way."

"Come on, then," whispered the Wolf. "You for the window and me for the door!"

Into the hollow stump bungalow went the two bad chaps.

"We want ears to nibble!" they howled.

"Oh, dear! What shall I do?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"I know what I'll do!" shouted brave Baby Bunty. "I'll take a tickle spear and drive them out!" With that Baby Bunty reached out the window and broke off a long, sharp-pointed icicle. "This is my tickle spear!" she shouted. And she tickled first the Wolf and then the Fox in the ribs with the icicle tickle spear.

"Oh, ho! Oh, ha! Oh, he! Tee-hee!" chuckled the Fox and Wolf. And they laughed so hard because Baby Bunty punched them with the tickle spear that they couldn't close their jaws to nibble any ears. And then, still laughing, out of the bungalow they ran.

On they sneaked through the woods

"Thank you, Baby Bunty, you saved our ears with the tickle spear," said the bunny gentleman. And then they ate the popcorn, but the Fox and Wolf had none.

And if the goldfish doesn't try to wear the rag doll's shoes when he goes skating with the rubber ball, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's penny bank.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By Lieut. John R. Irwin
Instructor U. S. Air Service

THE MULTIPLE PLUG

For experimenters who do not use a loud speaker for the reception of radiophone speech and music but who prefer to accommodate their friends who "listen in" with separate telephone receivers they would do well to study the multiple plug shown in the cut reproduced here. It enables you to install four or less sets of phones with one plug and jack. Unlike other multiple arrangements, it is constructed so that when two or more receivers are to be connected to your set they are connected in series, as tests have shown that better results are obtained in series than in other multiple arrangement. Furnished with this plug are three wire loops to insert and complete the series connection when fewer than the total number of phones provided for are used.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

ORIGIN OF RADIO

The writer received two letters yesterday, both from the same locality, requesting information upon the subject of the origin of radio. From the tone of the letters it would appear the author of the article is selected to settle a wager, always an unenviable position to place himself in.

This question is an old one and depends entirely on from what angle it is argued. Among the younger fans and new experimenters radio is considered something very recent. This is not so. Experiments leading to present results were conducted half a century ago. Space forbids a lengthy discussion of the subject and credit being placed where credit is due. The writer unhesitatingly would honor Hertz as the father of radio and Marconi as his disciple. Marconi may be said to have commercialized the academic and laboratory work of Hertz, Thompson, Morse, Edison and other contemporaries whose efforts have all contributed to the final result.

It would require a vast amount of reading and analysis to answer the question put to the writer satisfactorily to close students of radio history. The pioneers still living are continuously adding to their earlier triumphs—Sir Oliver Lodge, Prof. Fleming, Guglielmo Marconi, Tesla, Braun and others too numerous to mention here, but a shame not to mention them. On the other hand, the younger generation, all on this side of the Atlantic, have substantially improved the art and brought it where it is today. Notable among the latter must be mentioned Major Edwin H. Armstrong, creator of the regenerative and super-regenerative vacuum tube circuits. He has so elaborated upon the original tube invented by Fleming as to make possible the results achieved today.

Stanford Drops Six From 'Grid' Team

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 5.—Football followers at Stanford university were gloomy this afternoon following announcement that six members of the squad, including Fullback Cuddeback and Tackle Johnston, had been flunked and dropped from the university rolls following failure to reach required standards in recent examination. Pheny, Douglas, Taylor and Houck were the other members of the squad. In all eighty-five students were flunked. The track team also suffered a terrific blow in the flunking of "Tiny" Hartranft.

Walter Hagen, Golf 'Ace,' Sets Record

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Walter Hagen, British golf champion, paired with Joe Kirkwood, Australian champion, against Gene Sarazan, national open champion, and Jock Hutchinson, former British open title holder, established a new record for the Lakeside course here in the first eighteen holes of the exhibition match. Hagen turned in a card of sixty-eight for the eighteen holes. The best previous record was sixty-nine and par on the course is seventy-four.

Husky Ulsterites Are 'White Hopes'

BELFAST, Jan. 5.—British boxing promoters believe that the next "white hope" will come out of Ulster.

No better supply of raw material can be found, they say, than in the country districts of Northern Ireland, which teems with young fellows well over six feet high and so powerful that they do not know their own strength.

Unfortunately, these men are without any real boxing experience, but promoters say that, if trained, they would be world beaters.

Sir James Craig, premier of Northern Ireland, in a recent speech, said: "I am astonished at the physique of the young men of Ulster. I cannot conceive any part of the kingdom where one would find men of such extraordinary height, breadth and thickness.

These Irish Samsons, it is said, invariably have hard heads and powerful jaws. One man, with a head like a battering ram, is able to butt a wall and receive the terrific impact with the utmost unconcern. He will perform this feat—which would make the ordinary man shudder—half a dozen times without stopping.

In Tyrone there is a young man who can pick up in his teeth a table, with a 200-pound man standing on it, and then carry the table round the room as though he had merely a slice of bread in his mouth.

SPORTS

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

It was recorded that a score and a half of young men and boys were killed during the year 1922, as the direct or indirect participation in some form of sport. Boxing and football led all the other sports in the number of fatalities, 11 victims being recorded in each. It is likely that there have been other fatalities which have not come to light, but the roll may be considered approximately complete. The following are the names of those who died:

Boxing

Young Labadie collapsed at Trenton, N. J., after a six round bout and never regained consciousness. George Bliss, amateur, lung punctured by fractured rib. Ambrose J. Melanson, ex-national 135 pound champion, skull fractured in a professional bout at Boston. Terry O-Malley, of Omaha, knocked out, physicians stating that a blow in the neck had cut off his wind. Billy Light, of Pennsylvania, knocked out and failed to recover consciousness. Roy Mudd of Indiana, fractured his skull as he struck the floor on a knockdown. George Tetzie, of Brownsville, Oregon, hemorrhage of the brain. Jack Crawford, featherweight, blood clot, died at Newark, N. J. Lew Brody, lightweight of New York, cerebral hemorrhage. Walter Welsh, of Boston, concussion of the brain from knockout.

Football

Ralph E. Boyd, junior at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, injured in spring practice because soft and out of condition. Louis Manilla, 13 year old high school boy killed in New York after being tackled. Eugenio Frataracangelo, halfback at South Boston Military academy. Max Woodruff, fullback Columbus Junction high school died of lesion of the heart. Hube Curley, 15 year old member of Cathedral Latin team of Cleveland, internal injuries. Carl Jacobs, Buffalo community football team, spinal bones dislocated. Wayne Howard, 18, National Training school for boys at Washington, D. C., ruptured intestinal blood vessel. Arthur Holebeke, Detroit Industrial league. Albert Swander, 17, Clyde, Ohio, Junior High school. Allen Arless, Montreal Rugby player, broken neck. Andrew Land, quarterback University of Pennsylvania football team.

Baseball

M. A. Hollderby, skull fractured by batted ball; student at Hampden Sidney college. Alexander Falconer, amateur of Bran-Manitoba dropped dead while running to catch fly ball. Charles Bouzell, umpire, killed at St. Louis when skull was fractured by irate spectator who hit him with a bat because he objected to a decision.

Swimming

Edwin Leslie, 20, Grove City, Pa., college, broke neck diving.

Basketball

Douglas Horton, 17, died of heart disease during game.

Wrestling

William Krelich, 27, fractured spine.

Turf

William Swearingen, thrown from sulky

Automobile

Roscoe Searles, burned, Vraggo Nazarro, killed in Grand Prix race.

BETTER LOOK OUT, TY COBB!

Gene Valla, of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, virtually forced himself into the lineup last spring, and during the season just closed, acquired the fine batting average of .333. Valla plays left field for the 'Frisco Seals, and the owners of the team expect to get a bigger price for him than they did for Willie Kamm and Jimmy O'Connell.

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Officials of the California Golf association are more or less perturbed over the apathy that is being shown by amateurs in connection with the California open championships played in early January. Notwithstanding the fact that Gene Sarazon, U. S. open champion; Walter Hagen, first American bred golfer to win the British open championship, Jack Hutchinson, former British open champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian, are slated to compete, the lack of interest persists. Certainly, it would be a difficult matter to get a more imposing quartet of golf players together.

Hay Chapman, one of the Pacific Coast's most ardent students and critics of the game, offers a logical solution for the existing conditions. He says: "The average amateur hereabouts, at all events, is so intent on his own game—which, in its way, is a very good thing—that he cares little for the opportunity to watch the best players in the world or to improve his own style by careful study of their strokes and how they play them."

On the other hand, it is a matter of record that in certain matches between famous golfers, the gallery has been so large and unwieldy as to call forth suggestions as to what is to be done with the spectators when they become more numerous than they are at present.

As a matter of fact, the percentage of those who can enter a competition involving a championship of any sort is so small that those who take an excess of interest in these events, apart from reading about them, is practically negligible. Another thing, there can be too much of golf, just as in any other sport. One can even get too much Thanksgiving and Christmas turkey. Thus it will be found that wherever there has been an excess of tournaments in any particular branch of sport, there is almost sure to be a reaction.

That California should be the victim of occasional reaction of this sort is not to be wondered at when it is considered that golf is played all the year round without any letup. There is no sport more ardently followed than baseball, but when a set of promoters last winter set about to offer a winter league series of games to the fans, the venture turned out a dismal financial venture. The most rabid of fans was willing to wait until the regular season, and welcomed a layoff for awhile.

The question arises, are we beginning to avoid things in the way of competitions and tournaments in all sections of the country? With city, county, state, sectional, national and international affairs all over the United States, may it not be possible that a surfeit in some sports is being afforded?

PERFECT VAPORIZATION

Perfect vaporization is claimed for a new carbureter into which gasoline is admitted through from one to thirteen openings as the throttle is opened.

The Sport Crucible
By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Jess Willard will not get a return bout with Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship until such time as he proves himself worthy of the distinction by disposing of one or another of the eligible contenders. At least, not as far as Tex Rickard's more of less important dollars are concerned.

From the inside comes the tip that when Willard arrives in New York in a few days he will be duly apprised of this state of affairs. Mr. Rickard, it seems, is quite willing to accommodate Jess, but not at the expense of discommoding himself in the region of the wallet. A Dempsey-Willard bout, as it stands, would not draw ushers.

However, if the former champion can be rebuilt, as it were, by making an impressive showing in a preliminary engagement, many cash customers will come up for air. There are quite a few gentlemen in this vicinity, Rickard included, who regard Willard as being by far the best of the contenders, with the possible exception of Harry Wills. But there must be a "convincer," in other words, a bout in which Willard will push some other piano mover so harshly upon the chest that the public will clamor for more.

This program will be made known to the principal of the cast as soon as he arrives. The further fact that Rickard holds the whip hand will also be impressed upon him. If Willard wishes to appear in this vicinity he will fight for Rickard or no one for the simple reason that Rickard controls the only site on which a Willard bout can be held.

BEGIN WORK SOON ON GOLF COURSE

New Sparr Heights Links to Be Eighteen Holes; Clearing Land

J. Lindanger, secretary and treasurer of the new Oakmont Golf and Country club, recently incorporated, and whose membership will consist largely of people in Glendale, Eagle Rock and vicinity, states that construction work on the magnificent eighteen hole golf course which is to be created at Sparr Heights will begin next week. The vines that now occupy the upper portion of what will be the course, will first be removed and the teams will be immediately put to work grading.

The foundation for the immense swimming pool will also be started at once and rapidly pushed to completion. Plans for the clubhouse are also well under way and it is expected that the building will be completed early in the coming year.

The membership, which is limited to 750, is increasing rapidly. Golf enthusiasts of this section realized what a great advantage it will be to have such a superb course, as this will be in their immediate vicinity, especially, when the beauty of the surrounding country is considered.

Clubhouse on Slope

The clubhouse will be located well up on the western slope to the Verdugo hills and from its front porch will command a view not only over the entire golf course, but will take in the whole Verdugo Valley and the Sierra Madre range, running north and south as far as the eye can see, with Mt. Lowe, Mt. Wilson, Mt. Markham and Mt. Islip looming up immediately in front.

This course has been laid out under the supervision of leading experts in planning and will be second to none in Southern California. It will establish a reputation that will draw golf enthusiasts to Sparr Heights and prove another factor in creating the atmosphere of culture and refinement that will eventually prevail to such a large extent in this choice section.

CALIFORNIA GOLF 'CHAMP' STARTED

Nearly 100 Entrants Teed Off This Morning on the Bay City Course

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—In a heavy mist amounting almost to a rain, the California open golf championship got under way at the links of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club this morning shortly after 8 o'clock when the first pair teed away. Thereafter until almost noon the nearly one hundred entrants started at brief intervals.

Walter Hagen, British open champion, was the favorite because of the wonderful form he displayed yesterday at Lakeside when paired with Joe Kirkwood, he defeated Gene Sarazen, paired with Jock Hutchinson, 8 up and 7 to play.

All of the "big four" were entered in the play today as well as the flower of the amateur and professional talent of the Pacific coast.

Black Shows Form

The "come-back" of John Black, who nearly lost his life in an automobile accident, closely following his magnificent showing at Skokie, was being watched with the greatest interest. Entering largely as a courtesy to the visiting celebrities, Black, in practicing rounds, showed form that delighted his many friends who now predict that despite the fact he has not fully won back his strength and form, he will finish close to the top.

Thirty-six holes of the match will be played today over the 6500 yard course at Ingleside and thirty-six tomorrow.

Southern California golfdom is represented by a large number of leading amateurs and professionals.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE LADY OF THE QUIET HANDS

She isn't specially pretty.

She isn't unusually clever or witty.

As she sits in the living room of the Inn you would not at first notice her at all.

But if you were there any length of time you would probably come to notice—or perhaps notice is too strong a word—you would become gradually conscious of one thing which distinguishes her from the other women who sit there.

We call her The Lady of the Quiet Hands.

She Does Not Fidget

The distinction is implied in that title. She does not fidget.

If she is talking with you she does not twirl a pencil or play with a tassel on her dress or turn the leaves of a book.

Nor does she constantly raise her hands in front of her face as most people do (if you don't believe that ask some deaf person who has to help himself out with lip reading how common this trick is.)

Nor is she continually patting her hair, policing stray locks or cautiously feeling around to see if some puff is in place.

When She Rests, She Rests

Sometimes she knits like the rest of the world. But when she isn't working she is quiet.

And that quietude gives her a distinct charm in a world of people who do not know how to be quiet.

Poise is a beautiful word and a beautiful quality.

So is serenity.

And both of them are almost as rare as they are beautiful.

We Forget How

Restlessness is the keynote of the age. Autos and telephones and radios and trolley cars have made our lives more interesting but they have also made them more hectic. There are so many things to do that we rush from one thing to another and lose the habit of relaxation and the ability to be quiet.

Notice people about you and see how many fidget, how few are still for any length of time.

Notice your own hands and see if you are not surprised to see how many useless motions they make when you are sitting still.

Poise is a beautiful word and a beautiful quality and it is one which any woman may acquire if she will learn to relax.

Beauty Chats by Edna Kent Forbes

TAR APPLICATIONS

A short Chat I wrote recently about tar applications brought me a lot of letters, asking whether such heroic and complicated measures were necessary to remove dandruff.

It depends upon the amount of dandruff and the time this affliction has lasted. It depends upon one's own health—for dandruff is stubborn when the system is run down. It depends upon a great number of things.

I'd advise first treating the scalp with oil. Hot crude oil, or hot olive oil, rubbed well into the scalp, either with the finger tips or with an electric vibrator, is often enough to cure a very bad dandruff condition. The oil must be put on some hours before the shampoo, preferably the night before.

But, if months of oil treatments do not do any good, then try tar applications. They're messy, but effective. In fact, I treated one case personally, a man who had had very bad dandruff for ten years, in spite of the daily use of an oil hair tonic. He wouldn't try the hot oil rubs, he wanted something radical." I advised tar.

The first application helped enormously, the second, a month later, made a decided change in the appearance of the hair. I think half a dozen will cure the whole trouble so he need only use the oil tonic now and then as his hair is naturally very dry.

Buy or make the tar-and-oil mixture. Part the hair, rub in tar with a toothbrush. Part again, rub on more tar, and keep this up until the scalp is covered. Let it stay ten minutes, then wash off with hot water and repeated applications of good soap, preferably liquid. You may need six soapings and you must have the water hot. A hose is splendid—and rinse well at the end of the shampoo.

Two Chums—Hair waved on hair pins is frizzy, ugly, artificial and means the end of healthy hair, for it will break in no time at all. If you must have waved hair, though why it's necessary I can't see (you admit it's thick and healthy), moisten strands of it and roll each strand on a kid or a rag curler. Being soft, these won't crack the hair and the result will be a pretty and natural looking curl.

Catherine—I think you are to be all the more congratulated that your popularity is among girls rather than boys. Girls of your age see very clearly through each other, and they admire real worth when they find it. Whereas boys under 20 are still so immature in judgment, and so easily impressed by surfce qualities, that a fluff of gold hair or an attractive nose will blind them to any amount of shallowness and selfishness. That is a general statement of course and like all general statements open to contradiction.

Rub Tar Well Into the Scalp

Jones—Cut that ingrowing toenail in a V shape with the V pointing in. This will help draw the nail up from the flesh. Wear broad toe shoes.

Tomorrow—Why Some Are Fat.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase.....

COUNCIL TABLE

QUESTION: What do you consider the very best dress to wear doing household tasks? I want to look neat at all times for I have so many friends "dropping in" at all times. I have been married, and housekeeping, just two months. I do all of my own work with the exception of the heavy laundry.

ANSWER: Yes, indeed, you want to look neat at all times and you can do so by careful attention to the manner in which you work. I have found white Indian head, heavy sheeting galatea, and similar material best for house dresses. I have mine made in one straight piece, with belt attached in the back and buttoned in front. They are easily laundered (without starch) and they have the added advantage of never fading and the heavy material used makes them very durable, I have found that the little slipon aprons, cut similar to butcher's aprons, to be just the thing to slip on when washing dishes, cooking, preparing vegetables, and the like. When friends "drop in," as mine have the habit of doing also, the little slip-on apron is quickly removed and the white dress is neat and quite presentable.

QUESTION: Why do I tire so easily when doing housework? My feet burn and I am just "tired all over." I like to do my housework, but I wish you would tell me how to do it more easily.

ANSWER: I cannot tell you definitely what makes you "tire so easily," but I suspect it is your shoes. They probably are ill-fitting or they are not suited to your work. I know a great many young housewives who wear slippers with high heels while doing their housework, and then wonder why they tire easily. A good shoe for the house is one that is larger than the street shoe, has good support for the ankle and also has a low heel. If your shoes are well suited to your work, then look to your system of work. Is it orderly and planned to save steps. If the work is not carefully planned you may become nervous and get overanxious as regards the outcome, all of which will make you "tire easily," I am sure you will overcome your difficulty by careful study of conditions as above indicated.

QUESTION: When serving a dinner for a few friends with a servant would it be correct to place little serving tables near the hostess?

ANSEWER: It would be perfectly correct to place small serving tables conveniently to right and left of hostess. It would be equally correct to place a tea wagon near the hostess. If the tea wagon has a shelf underneath it can be made to hold as much as two tables, and will be found to be even more convenient than they, inasmuch as the tea wagon can be wheeled in place after the dishes, food, etc., are put on it and again wheeled out after the meal has been served.

QUESTION: I have some very pretty odd dishes, picked up at intervals and some given to me by friends which I would like very much to use in my dining room to add a decorative touch. My dining room is long and quite narrow, with a circular shaped alcove in one end, the center of which has a short window placed high enough to place buffet underneath. There are wall spaces on either side of the alcove and I am wondering if I could not have china closets built in these spaces. Or can you suggest some other way in which I can display my china?

ANSWER: Rare bits of china and pottery are decorative when correctly placed in rooms. If I understand your outline of dining room wall spaces, you can have china closets built in as you suggest. Have the lower half fitted with drawers and the upper half fitted with shelves, the spacing of which should be suited to dishes to be displayed. These shelves can be left open or could be fitted with glass doors, as desired. Even though the corner wall space was but one foot wide it could be made into a closet fitted with shelves the full length and make an attractive display case.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

I, I, I: MYSELF, I
THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME
Chapter XL.
Agoo!

I certainly am a wonder baby. Do you know what I am doing now? I am only three months old but I really began this before I was so old. I am talking! Yes, I can talk rapidly and distinctly and my Daddy and my Mamma and my Grammie, and in fact all of my family sit around me with the most ecstatic looks on their faces.

My talk is a sort of short-hand type. I say a lot in a few words. Would you like to know what they are? Well, my favorite word combination is "agoo." I can say agoo in such musical accents that my Mamma hugs me with delight. I also say "goo" but mostly I love to say "agoo," it means so much. I can say ara, am—mm and some other words too that Doctor cannot spell for me, they are so complicated, but almost always do I use the word "agoo."

When I say "agoo" it means I am so happy. I love this world. I love everybody, especially my precious Mamma. I love my nice milk my Mamma makes for me. I love everything.

Another thing I can do—I really have done this for some time—is to laugh gayly. My laughter is more delightful than rippling brooks, soft musical bells, the harmony of the spheres.

And, oh yes, I must tell you one other thing I am doing at my age. When my Daddy puts his watch to my ear I listen with the most solemn concentration. I note the ticking off of the seconds with great absorption, and my expression shows that I realize that every tick means that I am growing bigger and older and have more responsibilities every second.

When I cry real loud like, sudmy talking I must tell you about my crying. I cry real tears now and I cry with much more expression than I did formerly. When I cry it means something, believe me, and my Mamma has to know almost always what it means, too.

When I cry real lour like suddenly and pull up my legs, it suggests that I have a pain in my tummy and I have a little colic, especially if a little gas comes up when Mamma picks me up. I must tell you about colic soon.

If I cry rather insistently just before my feeding and if I am not uncomfortable otherwise, Mamma knows it is just healthy hunger. But she does not feed me, not until it is time, just the same. I may get a drink of water. Of course Doctor says that underfed babies cry most of the time because their hunger is never satisfied. If the baby were continuing to gain its normal amount of weight Mammas would know that the crying was not due to hunger but to some other discomfort.

Occasionally I fear I am a little naughty. Not often, but sometimes when Mamma puts me in my crib, for instance, and I would rather stay up I will throw back my head and straighten out my body and throw out a yell that would shatter your ear drums. That shows I have a little temper all my own. Mamma makes sure I am all right and then she leaves me, so I don't do this very often.

Of course we all are apt to cry when we are wet or too hot or uncomfortably dressed or too cold, but Mammas can usually find that out.

I shall have to tell you more about our crying next week, I think, and speaking of crying makes me think of that diabolic thing, colic. I'll tell you about that too. Au revoir.

Consumes Flock of Geese in Six Days

ATLANTA, Jan. 5.—Louis Pazoll prided himself on a large and noisy flock of geese, but Louis' neighbors didn't seem to care particularly for their vocal efforts and complained to the police.

The police called on Pazoll and informed him that the keeping of geese conflicted with certain ordinances of the city of Atlanta, and therefore something must be done.

Pazoll decided that whatever they suggested in the premises would be done, especially after the acting recorder, which is Georgia for police judge, had told him that he must pay a fine for this violation of the city code.

Pazoll was, in the parlance of the street, "up against it."

It was a cinch that he couldn't eat all of the geese—in a day.

It was a copper-riveted fact that he couldn't sell them, because there were no purchasers.

Finally he had a real idea.

He would eat the geese.

The police were reasonable and granted him permission to eat the flock. Six days they granted him to eat up the flock—one a day.

On the first day things were lovely. The Pazolls ate goose. The next day the piece de resistance was goose. On Friday there were slight murmurs, caused without doubt from the memories of goose on Wednesday and Thursday.

Saturday wasn't so bad, but on Sunday culinary rebellion raised its head in the Pazoll household—but still the Pazolls are eating goose.

For Pazoll is a law-abiding citizen.

Detroit's Sheriff To War on Whisky

DETROIT, Jan. 5.—Rum-runners operating downriver may expect a heavy return fire, if they shoot at a deputy sheriff, declares George A. Walters, sheriff, who took office January 1. Much of the Canadian liquor sold in the middle west is smuggled over the border at these little downriver villages.

"These men are desperate, but we can be just as desperate in our efforts to enforce prohibition, so far as the use of firearms goes, although I am not making any predictions as to the possibility of our ending rum-running unaided," Walters declared.

"Crime conditions today in Wayne county, Detroit, are shocking. The traffic toll is appalling. I am going into office to save human life, and the men who go in with me must be prepared to give up their own lives if necessary to accomplish this.

"I am responsible for all of my deputies, and I want them to be of the right kind of character and possessed of enough common sense to understand what they will have to do. I don't care if they are weak in arithmetic and spelling.

"The rocking-chair type of deputy found in the circuit courts today guarding jurors is going to pass with my entry. I will concentrate on police duty and carrying out the orders of the circuit judges."

Florida Ideal for Citrus Fruit Land

MIAMA, Fla., Jan. 5.—To make the native soil of Florida entirely suitable for the growing of citrus fruits not any customary commercial fertilizer need be used, according to Charles T. Simpson, of Little River. Mr. Simpson has been conducting experiments on his Little River farm, six miles from here, for the past eight years.

The only fertilizer that Mr. Simpson has used has been the so-called seaweed. Once a year this expert with plants brings loads of seaweed from the waterfront, mulching the grove, and declares this is absolutely the only fertilizer that is necessary.

On the strength of his experience he declares that he is inclined to believe that seaweed is a most splendid fertilizer. His trees are weighted to the ground with fine fruit, yet the mulch he uses, he says, is not a true seaweed but a couple of little plant-like grasses which grow on the bottom of Biscayne Bay. These plants are loosened by fish that feed on tiny bulbs at their roots and float to the surface and are washed to the shore.

He is conducting other experiments with the candle-nut, which has a commercially valuable meat when it is freed from its shell. At present the nut is like an enlarged hickory nut with a fine kernel, which, however, sticks to the shell even worse than does the meat of the Brazil nut. An effort is being made to raise trees from selected seeds which have freer kernels.

Wants All Filipino Laborers Educated

MANILA, Jan. 5.—The retiring president of the city of Pasay, a suburb of Manila, is starting propaganda to establish a great government or private school "whereby" Juan de la Cruz (the common laborers) may have an opportunity of realizing the beauties of science, sociology, the arts and agriculture through correspondence. He believes that while the government is educating a part of the youth of the isiands through the public schools the laborer is being neglected.

Nothing makes a good person quite so mad as a rather bad person's assertion that he is at peace with his Master.

FORUM GATHERING HEAR SUPERVISOR

W. H. Wright Explains Civic Problems to Thursday Afternoon Club

"County Co-operation in Solving Municipal Problems" was the subject chosen by Henry W. Wright, supervisor of the Fifth district, for an interesting address yesterday at the forum meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club, which was held in the K. P. Hall on South Brand boulevard. A short business session was held, with Mrs. E. V. Bacon, first vice president, in the chair.

Minutes of the Christmas meeting were read by the recording secretary, Miss Eva Daniels, and approved.

Announcement was made that the next club card party would be held January 20, at the home of Mrs. E. V. Bacon, 3802 Revere street.

Dr. Jessie Russell, program chairman of the forum meetings, then took the chair and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Wright gave some very interesting facts concerning the results obtaining from the co-operation of the county with the city health commission of Pomona and other neighboring cities; and the establishment of the new Health Center, by the county, in San Fernando, thereby solving the city's problem of properly caring for the foreign population.

Reads Ordinances

He read two ordinances, which cover the powers that will be invested in the new proposed regional planning commission, which will permit of co-operation with municipal street commissions, industrial and park commissions and flood control.

Also explaining that the county council has been asked to prepare a bill to be introduced before the next legislature, which will grant sadly needed authority to the county pemitting co-operation with municipalities in solving the vitally important sewage problems, as at present no state law exists covering the situation.

He touched on many facts concerning the effective co-operation of the county with the city, relative to hospitals, boulevards, traffic, and location of oil wells.

A few remarks in continuation of the subject by Dr. Jessie A. Russell, and the extending of a rising vote of thanks to the speaker from the members of the club, closed the interesting afternoon.

BILLION DOLLARS SPENT ON SHOWS

Revenue Collector Says L. A. Movie Attendance Sets World's Record

Attendance at motion picture theatres and other places of amusement in the Los Angeles district during the calendar year just closed, approached the quarter of a billion mark, according to federal tax figures disclosed yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell.

Admission tax receipts for the year were $2,628,250, which was augmented by $4,000,000 tax free admissions, making a grand total of attendance for 1922 of 218,128,250 persons, or near double the population of the United States.

Revenue officials declared the Los Angeles attendance established a world record. It means that each man, woman and child in Southern California visited and paid admissions to places of amusement 152 times during the year.

Under the new revenue act $4,000,000 persons were enabled to attend theatres charging admissions of 10 cents or less without paying tax. In 1921 these admissions were assessed. Taking into consideration these non-taxable admissions, the receipts from admission taxes for 1922 showed an increase of $365,000 over 1921.

Shows Big Gain

Collector Goodcell, in commenting upon the growth of the motion picture theatres as a producer of federal revenue, pointed to the fact that the admission tax collected in this district in 1922 was greater than the entire receipts from taxes of all kinds in 1915. In 1915 the total receipts were $2,505,447, as against admission tax collections of $2,682,265 in 1922.

In 1918 the admission tax receipts were $582,606, which included tax on 10 cent admissions, as against $2,682,665, with no ten cent ticket tax operative. This shows an increase of approximately 450 per cent in attendance at theatres and other places of amusements in five years.

Regarding the repeal of the tax on admission of 10 cents and less, revenue officials state that in the case of one amusement concern in Los Angeles the tax reduction amounted to $40,000 for the past year. Yet, in the face of a theatre reduction of $600,000, the Los Angeles district has smashed national records.

NOTE OF THANKS BY POSTMASTER

Expresses His Appreciation To Many Who Assisted In Holiday Rush

Editor The Evening News:—Through the courtesy of your columns, I desire to express to the various firms and individuals my personal appreciation of their cooperation with the postoffice department during the Xmas holidays. Through this wonderful support, I was enabled, through the efficiency and cooperation also of my entire force, to establish a record of delivery of Xmas mail in this city. At no time during the holiday period was there any congestion either on the outgoing or incoming mail.

Through the courtesy of the board of education, I established a terminal at the high school gymnasium where we installed routing tables and bins and all parcel post paraphernalia for handling the Xmas packages.

W. W. Hunt, foreman in this office, was placed in charge and his interest and enthusiasm extended to the workers resulting in a delivery organization that it will be hard to excel.

No Congestion

The outgoing mail, under the direct supervision of Assistant Postmaster Hallett, Superintendent Walker and Foreman Hunt, was handled without congestion.

I wish to extend my expression of appreciation to E. F. Heisser, president of the Independent Lumber Company, for horses furnished; the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company for lumber; Pacific Telephone company, telephone installation of temporary phone; to the Glendale and T. D. & L. theatres for the display of slides; to the papers for the wonderful publicity given through their columns, to the firm of Cornwell & Kelty, extra scales furnished to meet an emergency; to A. W. Perry of the Chase & Sanborn company for donation of coffee; to the women members of the various postoffice families for furnishing sandwiches, doughnuts and various eatables besides coming to the office and serving coffee during the holiday season.

Sets New Record

The grand total of 26,760 packages was delivered between the eighteenth and thirtieth of December, and the receipts of the office for the calendar year will exceed those of the previous year by approximately $50,000.

We issued in the neighborhood of 10,000 money orders more than the entire year of 1921 and expect to exceed this number during the present calendar year.

Thanking you in advance for any publicity that you may care to give this communication, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
D. RIPLEY JACKSON,
Postmaster.

WAR CLOUDS LOOM THROUGH EUROPE

Millions of Armed Men Are Ready for Action in Various Countries

danelles narrows, rivaling Gibraltar in strength. British, Italian and French infantry hold Constantinople and a zone from the Black sea to the Aegean. There are Turkish troops in Asia-Minor and Eastern Thrace. There is a Greek army in Western Thrace. All these troops are strongly supported with artillery, airplanes and auxiliary forces such as medical corps and engineers.

There are seven battalions of French and Italians in the near east. The total infantry, artillery and air strength of the British, French and Italians is estimated at 20,000; Greeks, 50,000, and Turks, 125,000. There are many marines and sailors on hand, in addition.

The Greeks are poorly equipped, while the Turkish nationalists also lack adequate fighting machinery. Most of the Turkish war supplies came from three sources:

1—Captured from Greeks.
2—Supplied by Germany during the great war.
3—Sold to Turkey by Russia.

French Premier Confers With Italians and Belgians

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Premier Poincare conferred today with the Italians and Belgians to ascertain how far he can rely upon their support if France occupies additional German soil with troops, including the Ruhr coal fields. It is most unlikely that France will make a move until after January 15.

Premier Poincare indicated that, although he considers France justified to make immediate seizure of guarantees, he prefers to "pile up Germany's guilt and to await formal proclamation by the reparations commission that Germany had defaulted in her coal payments and in the payment of the January 15 installment of indemnity gold."

Considerable military activity is reported from Mayence, headquarters of the French army of occupation on the Rhine. Also there is much activity at the war office. It is evident that if France advances into Germany she will follow Marshal Foch's advice to conduct operations on a grand scale.

"It is probable that Premier Poincare will not announce his decision for a week or more," said Echo de Paris, favorite newspaper of the army. "This delay will be useful to make both military and diplomatic preparations."

DEDICATE K. C. HOME MONDAY

Bishop Cantwell to Be Guest Of Honor; Prominent Men to Attend

The biggest event in Glendale K. of C. circles will take place Monday evening, January 8, at 8 o'clock, when the beautiful $25,000 clubhouse at 330 East Lomita street will be dedicated with a formal reception to Bishop Cantwell, of the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego.

A splendid musical program has been arranged from 8 to 8:40 p. m., after which addresses will be made by Bishop Cantwell, Hon. Joseph Scott, Judge Paul J. McCormick, W. Joseph Ford, David Supple, supreme warden, and D. Joseph Coyne, state deputy.

The reception committee to the bishop is composed of Grand Knight Harry Girard, Past Grand Knights Peter L. Ferry, Henry M. Doil, Sr., H. V. Henry and Leslie F. Wright.

Arrangements and decorations, etc., are in charge of Lecturer Hugh Bryant.

Music Surprise Promised

Grand Knight Girard has arranged a surprise forty-minute musical program unequaled in Glendale's musical history, each number being by an artist of recognized repute. As the speakers are among the leading orators of the west, the evening will undoubtedly bring added laurels to Glendale Council No. 1920, and to "The Fastest Growing City in America."

Owing to the club auditorium only accommodating 600 people, the dedication exercises will be limited to Knights of Columbus, adult members of their families, and the grand knights of the following councils: No. 621, Los Angeles, Juniper, Serra, Hollywood, Pasadena, Van Nuys, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Redondo and Whittier.

After the dedication exercises the guests of honor, the officers and past grand knights will attend a banquet at the Casa Verdugo restaurant as guests of Mrs. Yorba.

THEATRES

The Glendale

Rex Ingram's claim to film immortality is justified again in his remarkable new production, "Trifling Women," now playing at the Glendale Theatre.

The brilliant director of "The Four Horsemen," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and other big productions, is himself both author and adaptor of the present picture, as well as its director, making his triumph the more complete.

The story is concerned with the fascination of Zareda, a crystal gazer, whose siren-like fascination attracts men into her net. How she attains wealth and power by a cleverly arranged marriage, and meets death with her lover when her husband finds them together, makes a strong film.

The T. D. & L.

Today is the last day "Tess of the Storm Country," with Mary Pickford, will be shown at the T. D. & L. Theatre. The picture sensation of the year is also the record-breaker for attendance, having shown to over 8000 Glendalians here. This proves once for all that Little Mary is indeed "America's sweetheart," as she has so often been called, and that with the years she only grows more beloved to young and old alike.

Not to see this marvelous film will be to miss the best that the silent drama affords. Manager Ralph Allan is offering this treat to the public at the modest admission prices of 17-28-33 and 39 cents, according to location in the theatre.

Remember, today, Friday, is the last chance you have to see it.

A. R. Eastman at Father's Sickbed

Mrs. A. R. Eastman, wife of A. R. Eastman, vice-president of the Glendale State bank and treasurer of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, who was called back east because of the serious illness of his father, stated this morning that she had not received any word from her husband since his arrival in Kansas City Monday morning.

It is believed that Mr. Eastman's silence is indicative that his father is still living.

Mr. Eastman's folks reside on a farm five miles out of Pleasant Hill, Mo., a suburb of Kansas City, Mrs. Eastman said.

When Mr. Eastman arrived at the latter point Monday he telephoned his home and his father was alive at that time, she stated. Mrs. Eastman says she expects to receive word of some kind from her husband today.

Mr. Eastman's father is 75 years of age. He resides with his family at the Pleasant Hill address.

I Defy Anyone to Show Another Syndicate in Center of Signal Hill That Has a Smaller Capitalization

—It is apparent right now that this BEMCO No. 1 Syndicate of mine will be, perhaps, the greatest profit-payer in Signal Hill, California's wonder oil field.

—You have heard a lot about low-capitalized, actual cost syndicates. Some of them are actual cost and some of them are not. When I say that BEMCO is an actual cost proposition, by Golly I mean ACTUAL COST. I mean that it is going to cost me $125,000 as near as I can figure, to drill and equip this well and pay for this lease. I paid $7,500 for the lease (it is worth $15,000 today); my big, strong, double built derrick cost me $5,150; I have signed a $100,000 Turnkey drilling contract with that master driller, Jack McKeon, and the balance for my storage tanks, operating expenses, etc., equaling a total of $125,000, andthat is every dollar that I want to raise. When you come in with me on this syndicate you will share on a Signal Hill gusher on the smallest capitalization that this field has ever known since its success was established. Think it over a little bit. Does it stand to reason that a syndicate with a $175,000, $250,000 or $350,000 worth of outstanding stock can pay off as much as one with only $125,000? You know darn well what the answer is. It is up to you to decide whether you want to be a big fish in a little puddle, or a little fish in a big one.

—I'm going to leave it to you if this isn't the cleanest cut, squarest proposition you have ever seen. I do not want a lot of Bombast or Bushwa about me or BEMCO No. 1—but I am telling you some straight facts right here, in Plain English, that you will do well to listen to if you have any idea of making money out of oil and I want to tell you that all the promotion money in this syndicate—all the watered stock in it — would not buy a toy balloon down at Woolworth's 5c and 10c store. This deal is as clean as a hound's tooth.

—Another thing, BEMCO No. 1 is not located down in Texas, Oklahoma or Louisiana, but right here, near you, at Signal Hill, where you can INVESTIGATE our claims and see for yourself what an opportunity is offered you. Just phone and we will call and give you auto ride to lease free. Cars leave Glendale 11:00 a. m. daily. Good eats included, served 12:30. Phone today and make arrangements to go to our lease.
